

MICRO-GRANULES CUSHIONS

CareWave[®]
by Médipréma

For newborn and infant positioning

Security and posture prevention

The Carewave by Médipréma cushions protect newborns from skin lesions thanks to their anti-bedsores function. They limit the risk of osteo-articular distortion and muscular retraction in positioning baby's members in a right axis. Composed with polystyrene micro-granules, ultra flexible positioning cushions prop up newborns without press them.

Comfort and freedom of movement

Médipréma items reduce newborn's pain and stress, improving its general clinical state. By allowing voluntary movements and preventing from primary reflexes, they favour motor development. Cushions also facilitate intervention of hospital staff and contact with baby's parents.

Two models available

"Demi-lune"

The "Demi-lune" cushion allows placing easily and quickly the infant in axis lining up head, spinal vertebral and legs.

The risk of candelabra arm and the "squashed frog position" are dismissed. In lateral, ventral or dorsal decubitus, the baby is maintained with security.

"Flexi-tube"

The "Flexi-tube" cushion offers freedom of use in permitting to mould the cushion depending on medical cases and needs. It can also wrap around baby's body and, that way, reproduce maternal cocoon.

Also available: washable jersey stitch protection cover
